Yale S. Hauptman, Founder, Hauptman & Hauptman, Shares Expertise On NJ.com

- Hauptman & Hauptman, guiding families through life's transitions –

Livingston, NJ – Yale S. Hauptman, Founding Partner, Hauptman & Hauptman, P.C., was recently featured on NJ.com in the article, “Mom died and left us her home. What do we have to do next?”

One of the first things to do, Hauptman states, is to name an executor if one has not previously been chosen. “The executor is charged with gathering the assets together, paying debts and taxes - if any - and then distributing the assets in accordance with your mother’s wishes as set forth in her will.”

NJ.com is a digital news content provider which operates 10 local news and information sites in the United States.

Yale S. Hauptman, founding partner, Hauptman & Hauptman, PC., is licensed both in New Jersey and New York. His practice is focused on elder, estate, and special needs law. He has personally helped thousands of families plan for the complicated and emotional journey through the long-term care process. Yale writes and speaks extensively on elder, estate and special needs law topics, has been featured in both local and national media and has been quoted in print and digital media outlets. Additionally, Yale presents elder law topics to legal, financial, insurance and health care professional organizations as well as to the general public. He is also a published author of an eldercare book entitled, “Be Nice To Me-I Pick Your Nursing Home.” Yale teamed up with his partner and wife, Laurie A. Hauptman, Esq., and nationally acclaimed speaker and financial advisor, Don Quante, for his book, “Don’t Go Broke in a Nursing Home”, a consumer’s real-life hands-on guide to long-term care, including Medicaid eligibility, Veterans benefits, and new ways to “self-fund” your care without going broke.
